

AVIATION LIABILITY INSURANCE

Aviation Liability Insurance provides financial protection against legal liabilities arising from the operation of an insured aircraft. It is designed to safeguard aircraft owners and operators from claims made by third parties and passengers following an aviation accident.

This cover ensures that the insured meets legal and regulatory obligations while protecting against potentially significant compensation claims.

Scope of Cover

Third Party Liability

- Legal liability for bodily injury or death to third parties.
- Legal liability for loss or damage to third-party property caused by an accident involving the insured aircraft.

Passenger Liability

- Liability for death or bodily injury to passengers.
- Cover for loss or damage to passengers' baggage.
- Liability arising from delay of passengers or baggage, where applicable.

Benefits

- Protects against high-value legal claims arising from aviation accidents.
- Covers both third-party and passenger-related liabilities.
- Supports compliance with aviation authority and airport requirements.
- Suitable for commercial and private aircraft operations.

Suitable For

- Aircraft owners and operators
- Charter and commercial airlines
- Corporate and private aircraft
- Flying schools and aviation service providers
